Glee Club Opens Schedule by Tour

Numbers Favorably Received
In Every Community Visited

The Men's Glee Club is now under way in another successful season. No other club at Ursinus ever entered upon its schedule with such brilliant prospects, due in the main to the successes of the past week. It left on its first trip at noon on Thursday and did not return until Saturday at the same time, filling engagements in both York and Lebanon. In each of these towns the program was received with the greatest amount of enthusiasm and appreciation.

The first concert was given in the Heidelberg Reformed Church of York on Thursday evening. At this place the club faced as large an audience as it hopes to entertain anywhere on its entire schedule. Not only was the audience large but it contained many musical critics of the highest order, whose opinions were given the following expression in a local paper: "Distinct diction, smoothly flowing rhythm, and harmony of tone, was especially noted in the singing of the glee club."

The other numbers of the program also come in for their share of favorable comment. The quartette composed of Owen Jones, first tenor; Clair Blum, second tenor; Maxwell Paine, baritone; and Paul Krasley, bass, was given a rousing reception. The solos of Alton Peterman, baritone, were received in a like manner and given much publicity. Harold Peterman gave a novel touch to the program with his trumpet solos and these too were received with great enthusiasm.

As the most unique part of the program, Rev. W. Sherman Kerschner, pastor of the church, made a short address in which he presented a huge mounted bear, a gift of Harry D. Rupp, York, to Ursinus College. It is more than likely that this will become the official mascot of the glee club. During the concert it occupied a place of honor on the platform.

On the following morning the club made its second appearance in York. This time it sang in the High School auditorium before an assembly of two thousand High School students. Only a few selections were given but it was sufficient to arouse as many deafening rounds of applause from the entire mass.

On Friday morning the second concert was rendered at the Garfield Junior High Auditorium, Lebanon. This was under the auspices of the St. Mark's Reformed Church, in charge of Rev. Calvin I. Fisher. The same program was given here, and again it met with the same success and reception.

In both of the localities visited, the entertainment provided for the members of the Glee club was superb, almost beyond description. It is safe to say that every man found two new homes, not only in the abundant feasts and downy beds, but more especially in the sincere hospitality of the hosts.

Previous to the two day trip the club gave a dress rehearsal in Bomberger on Wednesday night. This

FIVE SENIORS TO BE LOST TO NEXT YEAR'S FOOTBALL TEAM

Team Played One of the Strongest
Schedules of any Small College

SEASON UNSUCCESSFUL

With the close of the 1925 football season comes the departure of five seniors from the squad.

Captain Charlie Hunsicker played four years at Ursinus, under the different coaches. His fighting spirit, so consistent thruout his career had always been a credit to the eleven. "Jim" always bore a personality and attitude among the fellows that developed a confidence and although he captained a team that on the score end was unsuccessful, could spell victory in various other ways. Ursinus thruout its season faced one of the hardest schedules of any college of equal rank opening its season with the strong University of Pennsylvania eleven and closing it with the well oiled Army machine.

Derk, a three letter man, played three years at Ursinus. Moxie held down a half back position with excellent skill and determination and at no time letting his pep slack.

Stafford played at an end position and when any gain was to be made by a forward pass "Bill" could be seen

FROSH ELEVEN WINS ANNUAL FOOTBALL GAME

Practically the Entire Student Body
Witnessed the Contest

The Frosh once more stood victors over their traditional rivals the Sophs when the yearlings won the annual football game, 7-0.

Almost the entire student body viewed the contest and rooted for their respective team. Many there were who hadn't any ice cream to eat on their pie.

The Sophs won the toss and elected to kick. Schell kicked off and Jeffers ran the ball back to the 25 yard line where he went down under an avalanche of red jerseyed boys. Consistent line plunging by Mink and Benner coupled with Millar's end running worked the ball to the Sophs' 35 yard line where the second year men's defense tightened and the yearlings lost the ball on downs. The Sophs immediately carried the pig-skin to mid-field due to Smith's and La Clair's off tackle smashes. Thus the oval ranged up and down the field with neither team being able to penetrate its rival's 20 yard line. Numerous penal-

Communities Organized and Definitely

At noon Saturday the grand total in the present Financial Campaign was in excess of $220,000.00. This figure is composed largely of alumni subscriptions, the church and community campaigns not yet having gotten fully under way. It is expected that during the coming week the church and the community will be heard from and that the next issue of the Weekly will have some extraordinarily good news for the friends of the College.

"MACBETH" TO BE PRESENTED BY REV. NIVEN, THURSDAY

Noted Sakespearian Scholar to Present Most Famous Tragedy

SECOND APPEARANCE HERE

Bomberger Memorial Hall will be the scene of one of the finest exhibitions of dramatic skill ever offered here on Thursday, December tenth when the noted Rev. J. W. Niven will appear in a rendition of Shakespeare's famous tragedy "Macbeth".

Rev. Niven is a famous English clergyman, pastor for twenty years of the Brockley Presbyterian Church, London. He was educated at Edinburgh and later took his theological work at the University of Cambridge. In his earlier life he had been an actor and his excellent dramatic ability coupled with that gripping oratory and captivating personality have made him one of the outstanding Shakespearean scholars of his day. He was a chaplain in the British Expeditionary Force witnessing much of that titanic struggle. He is a poet and a scholar of literature recognized by no mean authorities.

Rev. Niven came to America upon the invitation of the "Council for International Friendship through the Churches" last summer and among Community Shows Interest in Drive

Forty Workers Meet at Informal
Gathering in Dining Hall

Forty workers in the community division of the Financial Campaign gathered in the Dining Room on Friday evening to report the results of their efforts during the week. The meeting, an informal affair, preceded by a sumptuous dinner, was characterized by its enthusiastic spirit. Collegeville, Trappe, Schwenksville, Pennsburg, East Greenville, Skip-pack, Limerick and Lower Providence were represented by groups of men who, having laid aside their business perplexities for a time, had volunteered their services in behalf of the movement for a bigger and better Ursinus.

The reports of these workers were most encouraging. Although only $2600 was reported as a direct result of their efforts to date, the sentiment of the men was that this was but a beginning of the splendid showing that the community will make before the campaign is over. Approximately $56,000 had been previously been reported from the Perkiomen Valley region, this figure representing the pledges of alumni and friends of the College solicited in the alumni campaign. Thus the immediate community has already been responsible for nearly $60,000 of the grand total subscribed. It was pointed out that this is a remarkable showing and with the facts before them the workers pledged themselves to leave no stones unturned in their efforts during the coming weeks.

It had been planned to concentrate the appeal to the community into the period from November 30 to December 7, but by unanimous consent of the canvassers it was decided to extend the time still further, thus providing more opportunity to see prospects. Consequently Friday evening, December 11 was set as the next meeting date, at which time the workers will again congregate to make a second report.

The reports of the various chairmen were interesting. One individual reported that he had seen seventeen prospects and out of that number expected to hear favorably from ten. Gifts were reported varying in amounts from $25 to $1,000 and all seemed to agree that the appeal of the College was being seriously and thoughtfully considered by the community as a whole. Rev. C. M. De-Long, pastor of the East Greenville Reformed Church was present at the meeting, together with his corps of workers. It was explained that they had come merely as observers, but before the group adjourned announcement was made that this congregation would raise a scholarship of $2,000 as its contribution to the campaign.

Dr. Omwake and the campaign managers expressed themselves as highly pleased with the indication of loyalty on the part of all the workers, and urged that special efforts be made during the coming week to complete as nearly as possible the community canvass.

SCHAFF PLAY POSTPONED

Because of unforeseen circumstances it has been decided to indefinitely postpone the rendition of Schaff play. No date has as yet been determined for its presentation, but word from those in charge indicates that it will be given at a time most convenient for the return of alumni and friends. Mention has also been made that a most profitable and enjoyable surprise is in store.

CONSERVE YOUR TIME

At this time of the year there are many outside activities on the Ursinus campus to divert the attention of the students from their college work. The period between Thanksgiving vacation and Christmas recess is short and numerous programs of importance and varied natures will be rendered at the institution during this time. Notable characters will appear before Ursinus audiences within the next few weeks and they should be attended by all individuals who have the opportunity to be present.

These special entertainments are mingled with longer assignments and more intense responsibilities in the class rooms. They call for increased efforts on the part of the students and the only way in which these demands can be met successfully is by conserving time. During these winter months conditions are most favorable for study, but numerous temptations tend to lure individuals to follow the course of least resistance and neglect the subjects which are of vital importance to them.

Ample attention can be afforded to each activity without injury if the time is used in a systematic manner. Students should arrange a schedule of events to be carried out during one day and adhere to that outline. This is one of the most advantageous methods to conserve time and more satisfactory results can be realized from their efforts. In the end, it is evident that success does not depend solely upon intellectual attainments but on the way in which we are able to use our time. Therefore, we should get the habit of using our time in a systematic manner in an endeavor to reach the most successful ends and, at the same time, garner the highest degree of enjoyment from the various college programs at hand. A. C. H., '26.

A MODERN FABLE (?)

Once upon a time there existed a college founded on firm Christian principles. Its faculty was Christian, and its student body was largely and actively Christian. But it had not escaped the common worries of the Christian college and in spite of efforts to draw and hold the best young men and women possible it found numerous problems in human form in its family.

Because the faculty with its Christian kindness disliked drastic action and always hoped for the highest to finally reclaim the recalcitrant, and because the students themselves were closely associated, harsh action was delayed from time to time. Numerous undesirable things continued from year to year. There were occasions of gambling; athletic teams failed to do the best possible because of internal dissension, there was cheating in the recitation rooms, there was general fault-finding with plans of the College among those who did nothing to improve the situation, just because of a small "ring" and the "outer fringe" which its members contaminated.

Many were the students who deplored the existing conditions but were afraid to start action. Others were indifferent, still others were ignorant of the real conditions. The faculty was too much blinded by the general condition to note the insidious forces at work. Nothing was done. Some of those who drank, gambled, and cheated, were graduated and turned out as products of a true Christian College of recognized standing. Their understudies followed in their footsteps and perpetuated the evil influences.

At the beginning of the school year with the largest student body ever assembled at the College, things seemed not to go as they should. The football team, in spite of fair material and the tremendous efforts of a good coach, lost consistently. The players did not have the fight, the reserve power or the determination. The student body tried hard to be loyal and found that forced "pep" did not turn the trick. The best students became disgruntled and showed it in their attitude. Listlessness worried the instructors in the class rooms. The freshman standard of work went down. A depression pervaded the atmosphere and increased as the spirit waned.

Then something happened. News of the infringement of rules, especially of breach of faith became current on the college premises. The ire of the student body began to be aroused by a meeting conducted by a few leaders who pointed out the evils. They showed that the conditions were intolerable, that the students were not living the Christianity they professed, that since the institution was Christian and that boys and girls should make the best of their opportunity, it was time for the students, especially the upperclassmen, to get alive to their responsibilities.

Fortunately this action so aroused the student body that when the president expelled a few men and disciplined several others, ninety per cent of them stood back of his action welcoming an action that came about three years too late.

From this it can be concluded that if faculties and those in administrative offices of the various colleges would make an effort to rid the institutions of the moral degenerates, social parasites and those who masquerade about the campuses camouflaged as students, regardless of whether friends or parents may give to the next endowment campaign and regardless of whether the list of enemies is large enough, the faculties would find the best students back of them. Higher education would accomplish more. The future of the nation would be more secure.

Could this apply to Ursinus?

LITERARY SOCIETIES

SCHAFF

Schaff presented a very interesting program to an appreciative audience on Friday night, December 4. Every number presented displayed exceptional ability and talent.

The first number of the program was a vocal duet by Miss Barth, '26, and Miss Derr '26. They selected as their numbers "Oh That We Were Mating" and "The Barefoot Trail." Both selections were well rendered and highly appreciated.

Following this the society was entertained by a musical skit "A Story in Song" under the leadership of Miss Tower '28. This number was very original and appealed to the various emotions of the society.

Miss Gross '27 then read an essay on "Christmas" which presented a new attitude toward that great holiday. The essay was very instructive and appreciated.

The sketch "Evening Clothes Indispensable" was then presented under the direction of Miss Jenkins '27. Schaff's high standards were shown in the selection and action of this sketch.

Schaff Gazette was then read by Miss Derr '26 and her editorial theme "Boost Ursinus" was very timely. The jokes were very witty, causing great laughter among the society. The meeting then adjourned.

ZWING

The program in Zwing on Friday night was miscellaneous, with several impromptu numbers. It opened with a vocal solo by Grace Poley, '28. Her first rendition, "At Dawning," was given in a most pleasing manner, and called forth a very clever encore.

Marie Markley, '29 read a few of Edgar Guest's best loved poems and delighted her audience. Her splendid interpretations marked her as one of Zwing's budding readers.

Isabel Johnson, '27, directed a sketch which starred Mary Shaeffer, '26, Elizabeth Miller, '27, and Charlotte Berger, '28. Her production, "Fourteen," was a clever selection, and portrayed parts well adapted to the fine talent available. Miss Shaeffer's dramatic talent was brought into the limelight very favorable.

An impromptu sketch, "An American Saturday Night and Sunday Morning" was a realistic, although probably exaggerated, interpretation of American "home" life. The characters—Agnes Lorenz, '28, Mildred Stibitz, '28, Melba Farnsler, '28, Cora Gulick, '28, Charles Clark, '29, Joseph Armento, '28 and Thomas Clark, '27, portrayed their parts well, and gave the audience a vivid picture of gay life.

Hope Dietrich, '27, played a few popular numbers on the piano by special request. Her talent as an entertainer makes her an especially valued member of society.

Morris Slifer, '26, gave an impromptu lecture on Sanitation and Hygiene, which gave a number of valuable hints, very amusingly expressed.

Agnes Lorenz, '28, as Editor No. 2, read an interesting editorial on Courage, and numerous and humorous jokes.

Zwing was very glad to welcome into active membership Miss Aurelia English, '28, of Royersford, Pa.

Just before their "big game" each year, students at California University build a huge bon-fire and parade about town clad in pajamas. This peculiar diversion was developed by young bucks who sought a scheme to exclude women from the rallies. The women were requested not to attend but every device short of physical force failed to keep them away. Finally someone hit on the idea of robing the men in pajamas. Women arriving at the festivities shrieked in horror and fled. The men continued their rally undisturbed. Thus the "pajamarino" developed. In recent years, however, even this plan has become ineffective. The co-eds now don their own purple and green nighties and take an equal part in the celebrations.

The Tower Window

THE Financial Campaign, now in progress everywhere, has come to the home community. I wish to thank the many neighbors and friends for their personal help. In various sections of the country and city they are organizing themselves into groups of workers, taking up the cause of the College, and going out to help secure the funds which the institution so greatly needs. It means much for those who expect to educate their children here and for our Christian civilization as a whole, to have the subscriptions coming in from all quarters—even from across the ocean as did one five hundred dollar check last week.

But what arouses the gratitude of the writer especially is to see friends and neighbors roll up their sleeves and go out to do actual work in the campaign. In most instances the workers are men who can not easily spare the time, and this makes their service all the more significant. My own respect for Ursinus College has always been high and has increased from year to year as I have seen it grow in power and usefulness, but this respect receives a decided impulse upward as I see people in no way officially connected with the institution enter voluntarily into its service. It convinces me that my own confidence has not been misplaced. The old College has won the minds and hearts of our very best citizens. Those who work for Ursinus and contribute toward its support will henceforth think of the institution as "our college."

How much money the campaign will finally yield no one can foretell, but of this we may be certain—Ursinus College will be richer than before in genuinely interested friends. When people once put their money into an institution they will ever afterward feel an interest in its work and welfare and those who have gone out to work in its behalf will feel an especial attachment.

The outcome of this extension of proprietary feeling to a wider circle of friends will be increased patronage. More and more Montgomery countians, Philadelphians and other nearby neighbors will have their youth come here for their higher education. We must make good in our efforts to raise money, so that the capacity of the College can be enlarged to accommodate the large numbers.

ALUMNI NOTES

Melvin T. Rahn, '22, is a member of the faculty of Chattle High School of Long Branch. His new address is 625 Conover street, Long Branch, New Jersey.

On November 17, Rev. Purd E. Deitz, '18, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, Philadelphia, broadcasted the religious service from station WLIT, under the auspices of the Federation of Churches.

J. Weslie Wyckoff, ex-'24, was recently elected president of the Junior class of Hahnemann Medical School of Philadelphia.

Marion Reifsnnyder, '17, who is studying in Mandalay, Burma, for missionary work passed her second examination in Burmese "with credit" making 83 when the passing mark is 50. It is interesting to see what the examination consisted of, and the grades Miss Reifsnnyder made, which are as follows:

Scripture—Psalms, Acts, I Cor.	18 out of 20 points
Memorized selections in Burmese Current Literature	13 out of 15 points
Newspaper Article (translated at sight)	6 out of 8 points
Translated Burmese Letter	4 out of 8 points
Complex sentences in Burmese	8 out of 8 points

Writing Burmese letter 6 out of 8 pts. Conversation in Burmese 22 out of 25 Telling parable of Prodigal Son in Burmese 6 out of 8 pts. Miss Reifsnnyder writes that the examination was a full day's work. She is so grateful to her friends at home who remembered her birthday by sending cards and gifts. Miss Reifsnnyder writes, "October 16, was the second anniversary of my arrival in Burma. Therefore, it makes me doubly happy to be able to say that I am well and strong at the close of these two year's work, and have completed my two examinations in Language study."

Rev. and Mrs. Paul Wesley Bare announce the birth of a son, Wesley Wade Bare, weight 7 pounds 12½ ounces, on November 21. Mr. Bare, '24, is a student at the Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J. The Weekly congratulates the fond parents.

"Nat" Detwiler '22 athletic coach at Tom's River, N. J., High School, has completed a most successful football season, losing but one out of ten games. This is the second championship team he has developed in the past two years.

LETTER FROM THOMAS ELLIOTT

Thomas Elliott who has been in the employ of the College eighteen years formerly as janitor, in later years as campus man and fireman in the girls' dormitories, was given leave of absence early in November in order that he might visit his old home in Ireland.

The following letter received by the President will be of interest to the hundreds of Ursinus men and women who know him:

"Dear Dr. Omwake,
Just a few lines to let you know that I have got to Ireland safe. I must say we had a very nice voyage—out on deck every day without the overcoat. We had a very nice lot of passengers and a good time all the way. There was not one seasick. As for myself I did not miss one meal, and the board was of the best, breakfast at 8, soup at 11, lunch at 1, tea at 4, supper at 7, and two concerts each day, morning and evening.
Hoping you are all well and the girls are being kept warm,
Your truly,

BREVITIES

Stop-watches were thrown away and a new method of timing was followed in a recent football game between Brown and Boston Universities. The first two quarters consisted of forty plays, and the last two of thirty-five each. This system eliminates the possibility of stalling, and any system of juggling of the time. Coaches and spectators declared the experiment an unqualified success.

The Yale News took a ballot to determine what percentage of the students and faculty at Yale favored compulsory chapel. Results showed that 1,681 under-graduates opposed it and 241 favored. The faculty voted three to one against it. However, no change in the chapel regulation has yet been reported.

Red Grange, greatest hero of all time at Illinois, is to be honored in an unusual way. His old blue jersey, with No. "77" on the back, is to be preserved in the museum. It is reported that Grange receives as many as 200 "mash notes" and congratulatory letters a day.

Oklahoma A. & M. College students recently celebrated with a monster shirt-tail parade through the streets of Stillwater. At the head of the procession, bare-headed and shirt-tail aflop in the breeze, marched President Knapp, jubilant as the most abandoned freshman.

Co-eds at the University of Texas do not cheer in unison with the men at athletic matches. They sing, instead of yell, on the theory that singing is more suitable to women's voices.

While inspecting the Harvard campus visiting students from Germany noticed a long line of parked flivvers. Great was their astonishment when then learned that the cars belonged to students. "Who in Germany would think of such a thing?" exclaimed one. "Never would a student dare to come in a car while his professor walked. Ach! But in such a wealthy country, such a wealthy country—" former under-Secretary General of the League of Nations, will be the principal speakers at the National Collegiate World Court Conference to be held in Princeton Friday and Saturday, December 11th and 12th. Mr. Davis will address the opening meeting of the Conference, while Dr. Vincent and Mr. Fosdick will speak at the second general gathering the following evening.

Among the prominent men who will lead discussion groups Saturday morning who have already accepted the invitation of the National Executive Committee are Dr. Henry van Dyke, Former Ambassador to the Netherlands; Roland S. Morris, former Ambassador to Japan; Norman Thomas, Director of the League of Industrial Democracy; Herbert Houston, Member of the American Committee of the International Chamber of Commerce; Mary Wooley, President of Mt. Holyoke College; John P. Dulles, New York barrister; Herbert Adams Gibbons, noted war correspondent and author, and Ivy L. Lee, New York Publicity expert.

Among the topics to be discussed by these leaders are "The Press and War", "The Relation of the World Court to Economic Prosperity", "Imperialism and World Peace", "The World Court and League of Nations".

To date, more than 65 colleges from all parts of the country have accepted the invitation to send a delegate to Princeton for the Conference. The national character of the Conference is evidenced by the acceptances of such universities as Mills College, California, University of Michigan, Bates College, Maine, and the University of Texas.

It is to be one of the purposes of the Conference to form a permanent organization of American students for the purpose of discussing topics of current national import. The delegates will convene annually at institutions in various parts of the country for this purpose. Senator William Borah, Vice-President Dawes and Chief Justice William Howard Taft have endorsed the Conference.

Five Seniors to be Lost

pulling the oval out of mid air and rambling down the field. On two such occasions this year he happened to stroll across the goal.

Yaukey, at tackle played one of the most consistent seasons known in his four year stay. He had never been known to suffer any serious injury and often broke thru the enemy's line to throw their backs for a loss. Any one who witnessed the opening game with Penn can know the type of scrappy game he played.

Evans, last year's captain, playing at end position was a sure and fast tackler. You could be sure to find him down under punts every time. He knew the game and it was a real pleasure to see him break through the enemy to make his tackles.

The loss of these men will be felt in next year's squad, but their spirit of determination will not be forgotten.

The first game of the season was a defeat taken at the hands of the Penn squad. In the next four games with Schuylkill, Juniata, Geo. Washington and Delaware the Bears would not have their goal crossed for more than six points. Schuylkill was defeated 13-6, Juniata 19-6 and the strong Geo. Washington eleven was held to a scoreless tie in a sea of mud.

Defeats were taken from Gettysburg, F. & M., Swarthmore and the Army in succession.

The squad was composed of Owen Jones, Francis Evans, Arnold Smith, Merritt Jeffers, George Erb, Millar, La Clair, Willard Moyer, Stan. Moyer, Robert Henkels, Arthur Faust, Ray Schell, Earl Skinner, Charlie Hunsicker, Charles Yaukey, Thomas Clark, Malcolm Derk, William Stafford, Dougherty, Mink, and Benner. Although quite a loss will be felt when the seniors have gone, there still remains a nucleus of wealthy material to start next year's season.

They won't find anything at the North Pole, except, possibly, a new casus belli.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Frosh Eleven Wins Football Game

ties were imposed upon both teams for off sides play due to the zeal with which they went at each other. Upon several occasions friendly hands had to virtually pull the "kids" apart. Many sly punches were given and taken.

Capt. Schell of the Sophs was one of the chief offenders thruout the game altho other Sophs ran him a close second. Thus the horse-play continued for two quarters with neither team gaining more than minor injuries.

The second half started with a bang, after a brief ten minute intermission, during which many vows were made. Schell, again kicked off and the Freshies pushed the ball to their opponents' 20 yard line only to have the Sophs' defense take the ball on downs. The "Wise-Fools" made a first down on two plays only to have Schell thrown for a 15 yard loss on an attempted kick. The Frosh took the ball on their opponents' 30 yard line and Benner smashed his way to the 6 yard line. Three plays advanced the ball within 2 feet of the goal line but the Sophs stopped Benner in his tracks upon his fourth attempt on the line. May then kicked to the 35 yard line and on the second play Millar threw a long pass to Capt. Jeffers who scampered across the goal line unmolested. The Sophs being off-sides gave the Frosh an extra point. Score: Frosh, 7- Sophs, 0.

For a third time Schell kicked off and the Frosh advanced to the 30 yard line only to give up the ball on downs. Here the Sophs opened up and several forwards advanced the ball to midfield where the Freshies got it, and the fun began.

Every Frosh-Soph game in the history of the College has been for blood but never was there witnessed such a scene as took place on Patterson Field with two minutes of the third quarter yet to be played. It is needless to repeat the affair as it is known all over the campus, and it is hoped that it never occurs again.

"Macbeth" to be Presented

his first engagements were those at the Collegeville Summer Assembly. Here he lectured and here he secured the deep respect and love of those who came to know him. His appearance here was a huge success and his recital and lectures formed the major attractions of the sessions. From thence he preached and lectured throughout the western portion of the United States and has come back to fulfill a few engagements before he sets sail for England. Dr. Niven will leave before the Christmas holidays.

Macbeth, as Dr. Niven claims, is the best play in his repertoire. How fortunate the college authorities are in securing the services of such a man as Dr. Niven can not be estimated. The intrinsic value of his performance can only be felt by attending it. This is without a doubt the "peace de resistance" of the course of entertainments offered the students of Ursinus.

dent subscriptions to date has been compiled and should reach every member of the Ursinus family before this issue of the Weekly is distributed. This list is necessarily incomplete. A number of subscriptions have been received at campaign headquarters after the copy was sent to the printers. These additional subscriptions will appear in the next edition together with the pledges that will come in to the headquarters office daily. As soon as these pledges reach sufficient proportions to warrant it, a supplemental list will be issued. It is significant to note that only 37% of the alumni have subscribed up to the present time. When the remaining 63% have an opportunity to register their intention the result will be decidedly satisfying.

Meetings in Pottstown, Reading and Norristown were held during the past week, and with these communities organized and definitely at work little difficulty should be experienced in securing the support that is necessary to make the campaign a huge success.

Glee Club Opens Schedule by Tour

was very well attended by the student body. Following the trip, the glee club octette, composed of Owen Jones, Lloyd Enoch, Clair Blum, Carl Thompson, Maxwell Paine, Augustus Welsh, Paul Krasley and Earl Skinner entertained with a few numbers at the Trooper Baseball banquet, Trooper. The entire club will not appear until December 18th when it will journey to Atlantic City.

And the Glee Club also sang at the Farm and Product Show at Norristown on Saturday.
